

When she says there
It's not there as in a physical space but as a place of recent time.

One
which she has cognitive, conjuring recourse on still for now.
A time place, there in the room.
At the edge of descriptive consciousness.

A joint resource.
It's Herself who reminds us of that time place,
of recent time, concrete because it happened,
and just there in the room.